

“Splash of a Milk Drop”

Brett Goldstein, NCSSM '91

Four sequential images of a falling milk drop were captured 0.006 second apart. The drop fell into the small pool formed from the previous drop. The expansion of the crown of milk is evident.